

Announcement from Goodman Masson

9 January 2012

Glamour Magazine names Goodman Masson as one of the top 50 best companies for Women.

In the December issue of Glamour Magazine, we were named one of the top 50 best companies for women to work for.

Our Women in Leadership enables us to bring together a talented group of professionals and provide them with the infrastructure and platform to visualise, shape and embark along a successful career path. The programme provides a platform for women at Goodman Masson to develop leadership skills, become confident decision makers, build a “career road map” and to discuss the difficulties of maintaining a work life balance. The 12 module programme is hosted by an external facilitator.

This programme is an opportunity to create a working infrastructure for our female colleagues to position themselves for a successful career ahead.

Goodman Masson This recruitment agency has a whole chill-out floor in its office, housing giant Jenga and Connect4 games, a plasma TV and Wii console – even hair straighteners if you get caught in the rain. Every Friday at 4.45pm, the whole office downs tools and heads there for drinks. Quarterly team lunches are held in places like Michelin-starred London restaurant Hakkasan. Other perks include flexible working, accelerated-mortgage-repayment schemes and childcare vouchers. The firm was ranked No2 in The Sunday Times' 100 Best Small Companies To Work For.

We are very proud of our workplace environment and are delighted to be named by Glamour Magazine as one of the top 50 companies for women to work for in the UK.
