

Announcement from Goodman Masson

July 20th 2012

Collecting CIMA Study Books to Send to Students in Developing Countries

Career development, continued personal growth and lifelong learning are values that we promote within our company, amongst our employees and throughout the community of accountants which we serve.

Our mission to support the community of accountants through our CIMA Bursary Scheme, Finance Director Workshops, award winning apprentice and mentoring programmes have led to great success and have enriched the lives of many.

Our efforts to support lifelong learning which leads to greater career development now expand beyond the shores of the UK as we are collecting used CIMA study books to send to students in developing countries.

If you have just passed an exam or are a recently qualified CIMA accountant or up to three years post qualified, we would like your old study books. Contact alex.carr@goodmanmasson.com to set up a collection or just stop by our 7th floor reception to drop off your used books before September 28.

Donate Your Used CIMA Study Books
So That Another Can Qualify
